

Capitol Hill Photographers
Like for the Senators to Yawn

Two Gang Up On Senator Norris, Find Him Napping, But They Can't Convince Him to Yawn for an Informal Photograph

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—No Capitol Hill photographer considers the day well spent until he has caught a senator in some informal pose, and so it was that two of them ganged up on Senator Norris of Nebraska at a quiet, rather unimportant hearing.

They wanted him to yawn so they could catch him with his mouth open. Nothing much about it, the boys just like an unusual shot like that, and the Senators take it in good spirit. They moved in front of him, cameras all set, and began faking yawns. Norris watched them, his high arched eyebrows giving him a perpetual look of innocent surprise, but he did not yawn.

Whenever his attention wandered, the photographers jiggled their cameras, slyly repeating their yawns.

Norris would not respond, but back of him a row of spectators caught the infection. Their yawns affected another bank of spectators across the room and behind the two cameramen. This new row of yawns opened squarely in front of the several senators at the hearing table and some of them yawned, but not Senator Norris.

The situation became so funny that the lads had to run for it, or take a round of good-natured razzing.

Funny At the Time
The President's press conferences not infrequently turn into family gatherings, with several Roosevelts present to enjoy the exchanges between Papa and the newspapermen. At a recent one following the Roosevelt-Clark wedding, Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, tall blonde and pretty, sat in on the show. The President was in high humor and not infrequently two Roosevelts were going at a time.

At one point reporters asked about a stock of what appeared to be graduation certificates. The President said these were merely certificates of appointment of officials who had been baptized into federal service. Anna enjoyed that sally. The whole press corps joined with her in laughing at another one.

The President said he was to spend a day as guest of Eugene DuPont, father-in-law of Franklin, Jr., during a celebration in connection with the arrival of Swedish colonists in Delaware. After the visit, he said, he would journey down the coast to where they landed on the rock—the Swedes, not the DuPonts.

Strangely enough, many of the President's quips are "atmospheric" in that they are funny at the time but fall flat with the retelling outside the electric zone of the press conference.

Sons Unlike Father
It develops at this point that sons of Rocky Mountain Senators like to work in their fathers' offices but as yet have shown no hankering for political careers.

Senator Murray of Montana, Schwartz of Wyoming and Hatch and Chavez of New Mexico each have a son working in their offices. Some of the boys are studying on the side—but not for political careers.

McCarran Gets "Hand"
ABOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S TRAIN en route to San Francisco—(A)—A station crowd at Carlin, Nev., interrupted a talk by President Roosevelt Wednesday to applaud Senator Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.), a bitter foe of some New Deal legislative proposals.

The president was accompanied to the rear platform of his special train by Albert Hilliard, opposing McCarran for re-nomination. Hilliard has pledged full support to the administration. McCarran, who had boarded the train at Ogden, Ut., came onto the platform after Mr. Roosevelt had started speaking.

"Hello Pa," someone called, and a round of applause rippled through the crowd. The president, smiling, stopped speaking momentarily and shook hands with McCarran.

McCarran thereafter joined frequently with the crowd in applauding Mr. Roosevelt's statements that water should be put to its best possible use for the benefit of residents of Nevada and the nation as a whole.

Before the platform appearance, McCarran had told reporters he thought Mr. Roosevelt's cross-country tour had made no change in political sentiment. McCarran was one of the senators who fought Mr. Roosevelt's court reorganization bill last year, and he voted against the government reorganization plan.

Leaving Carlin, the president sped onward toward California, where he planned to speak at the San Francisco exposition grounds Thursday and per-

OUT OF THE WEST

Hughes Flies Around the World in Less Than Half Post's Time

NEW YORK.—(A)—Howard Hughes and his four fellow world girdlers landed at Floyd Bennett airport at 12:36 p. m. (Hope time) with a smashing new round-the-world record of less than four days.

The big silver monoplane circled the field twice before coming down to an easy landing before a wildly cheering crowd.

The total elapsed time for the dash around the globe was unofficially at 91 hours 16 minutes, or 3 days 19 hours 16 minutes.

The multi-millionaire speedster whipped in from the West with a record that more than halved the 7-day-18-hour-49-minute record round-the-world time established in 1933 by the late Wiley Post.

Hughes' and his companions' last stop, an unexpected one, before New York, was at Minneapolis at 7:39 a. m. after a 2,441-mile flight from Fairbanks, Alaska. After a 33-minute halt at the airport there they roared off at top speed for New York.

Head for Home
FAIRBANKS, Alaska.—(A)—The Howard Hughes round-the-world aerial expedition, dashed toward St. Paul, Minn., Wednesday after a brief refueling stop here.

Pleased at success thus far in his attempt to set a glob-girdling record, Hughes was happy and smiling as he and his four companions took off at 8:35 p. m. (E. S. T.)—an hour and 18 minutes after landing here at the end of a 2,456-mile hop from Yakutsk, Siberia.

Before the take-off Radio Engineer Richard Stoddard said the fliers could not take fuel enough for the 3,380-mile hop to New York.

Later he radioed Edmonton aviation officials that Hughes was setting a compass course for St. Paul. At Edmonton, Grant McConnachie, United Air Transport flier, predicted flying conditions would be ideal at least the first 1,000 miles of Hughes' latest hop.

2 Days Out of New York
The aviators touched American soil after leaving New York city more than three days ago. Far ahead of the late Wiley Post's glob-girdling record of seven days, 18 hours, 49 minutes.

Service crews rushed refueling operations, while Hughes was applauded by a crowd that assembled hours before his arrival. The flier radioed word in advance he would decline interviews here in an effort to avoid delay. Before his message was received hotel rooms had been engaged for possible use by the aviators.

Comfortable On Trip
While Hughes directed refueling operations, Radio Engineer Stoddard said in a radio broadcast the crew was "a little tired, but we were pretty comfortable on the entire trip."

"We are faced with the difficulty here of having only a 2,800-foot runway and we will be unable to take a full load," he explained. "Also we will be flying into the darkness from here and we want no mishaps at this late date."

The weather forecast was "generally overcast" for the area toward Edmonton.

The fliers, so occupied with navigation they gave position reports infrequently flew over some of the north's wildest and most desolate terrain after taking off from Yakutsk, Siberia at 7:01 a. m. (E. S. T.) Wednesday on the 2,456-mile hop to Fairbanks. Hughes' course led over Aradysk, Siberia, and across the Bering strait north of Nome and direct to Fairbanks.

In the crowd of welcome the Hughes party was Mrs. Wiley Post, widow of the famed aviator whose round-the-world record Hughes thus far has halved. By coincidence Mrs. Post on her way to dedicate a memorial to her husband and Will Rogers at Barrow, Alaska, arrived here Tuesday by plane.

TOKYO, Japan.—(A)—The Japanese government, faced with the possibility of two more years of conflict in China and a shortage of funds and materials, Thursday suddenly abandoned its support of plans to hold the 1940 Olympic games in Tokyo.

The government also announced cancellation of the International Exposition in 1940.

Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic Committee, said at Chicago:

"The games will be held elsewhere unless the entire world is at war."

Italy Anti-Jew?
ROME, Italy.—(A)—A 10-point Fascist race doctrine similar in many respects to Nazi Germany's Aryanism was published Thursday under the auspices of the ministry of popular culture.

The doctrine proclaimed Aryan supremacy and affirmed the Italian race's right to call itself Aryan.

Coming soon after the recent anti-Semitic outbreaks in Berlin, the statement provoked fresh disquiet among Italian Jews, who fear the growth of Fascist anti-Semitism of the Nazi type.

City of El Dorado
Gets Power Grant

$298,000 Grant and $365,000 Loan From WPA for Electricity

WASHINGTON.—(A)—El Dorado, Ark., received $663,000 of $527,995 conditionally allotted by PWA Administrator Ickes today for 21 public power projects which he has designated as competitive. The Arkansas allotment included a $365,000 loan and $298,000 grant.

Municipalities concerned must comply with the power policy announced by Ickes last Friday before receiving the money. He said then that before cities could set up competing utilities they must make "reasonable efforts in good faith" to purchase the privately-owned facilities with which the municipal plants would compete.

Bluff City Man Is Hit by Lightning

Albert Barlow, 40, Fatally Injured Tuesday Afternoon

FRESCOTT, Ark.—Albert Barlow, aged about 40, was killed instantly about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when struck by lightning while plowing in his field near Bluff City.

The lightning struck Mr. Barlow on top of the head, going through his body to the ground. A watch carried in his pocket was said to have been thrown several feet.

The mile Mr. Barlow was plowing was knocked unconscious for several hours.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Bluff City. Burial was also at Bluff City.

Excellent Progress
Cotton Crop Reported

LITTLE ROCK.—(A)—The weather bureau Wednesday reported cotton had made good to excellent progress the past week due to high temperatures and light to moderate showers. The crop is blooming in most sections with bolls forming and growing nicely.

Hot weather has been unfavorable to corn, said the bureau, especially that just tasseling and forming ears. Early and late corn was not damaged seriously except in some hill areas.

Meadows, pastures, sweet potatoes, melons and cantaloupes may be damaged in some hill sections but elsewhere are in good to excellent condition.

Temperatures have been high throughout the week. The weather bureau said the highest reading of 105 occurred at Hot Springs. The mercury soared into the high nineties Wednesday with a reading of 98 here at 2 p. m.

CHICAGO.—(A)—The president of a national stone cutters' union—who wouldn't chisel even a little publicity by permitting use of his name—complains that sand blasting machinery has played havoc with the ancient handiwork of carving tombstones.

"Modern methods have ruined us," he said. "Twenty-five years ago we had 35,000 members in our union. Today we have 5,000 and even they are not carving fancy angles and doves on the stones any more."

"People want things fast and plain today and sand blasting gives it to them that way. All workmen have to do is outline a name with rubber composition, turn on the blaster and the job is done in a few minutes."

"That's all right but I'll lay you 10 to 1 they didn't cut out this Venus d' Milo with a sand blaster, did they?"

Drummer, Brush Away Those Tears

THERE is one law of business that hasn't been repealed, one principle that remains true, under Republican or Democratic administrations, under fair skies or foul, in an orderly world or in the midst of today's whirlpool.

And that is that, everything else being equal, the rewards of business go to the aggressive, the imaginative, the capable, the daring. They go to the man who is willing to try, and able to do.

To sit back and lick the wounds of the depression gets no one anywhere. And there are signs that many business men are beginning to feel that they have cried long enough, and that now it is time to go out and get some business.

THE railroads, despite the precarious financial condition of many of them, have used the depression period to revolutionize completely the speed of passenger travel in the United States. They have dared to go ahead and buy new and better equipment, and the most daring have found good profits in streamlined trains running on lines which a few years ago were a dead loss.

The trans-ocean airplane people have not hesitated to gamble a million dollars and three years' hard experimentation on their newest "Big Ship" destined for trans-Atlantic service.

Where daring and aggressiveness have marked the business course, there you find spots of progress and "go-ahead," rather than sloughs of despond and walling walls. The cuttings of steel prices is apparently an effort to do something to get things off dead center, rather than supinely waiting for something to turn up.

EXPERIMENTATION is developing new and better products all the time, and to those who are abreast of the innovations, the rewards will go. Here is a new device for cooling meats, not by refrigeration but by a needle injection at the hip joint, starting the cooling process from within. Here is a new process for making woolen yarn by applying the principles of suspension-bridge cable design. Here is a bus company that goes after summer tour business as a profitable sideline to spread overhead costs, and reduce the cost of regular scheduled operation.

Here is a radio-retailing magazine which publishes a detailed map of REA lines constructed and planned, a vital guide to where sales can be made. Live sales organizations everywhere are beginning to realize that sales can be made if advertising is well-used and greater aggressiveness and imagination used in seeking them.

The way to resume, as President Cleveland once said of special payment, is to resume. And the way to better business is the way of improved product, improved sales methods, and a determination to light.

Watch Me

THE criminal mind is a puzzle the average man finds difficult to understand. There are judges, legislators, penologists, even, who do not understand it. Conceiving of mental attitudes and behavior alien to itself is a task which the normal mind never finds easy.

But some of the conduct of the criminal mind is so apparent an exaggeration of processes with which every normal human is familiar that the task of understanding is considerably lightened. James A. Johnston, warden of Alcatraz, disclosed something illuminating about the criminal during a recent talk in Springfield, Mo.

The chief task at Alcatraz, he disclosed, is to make the incurables aware that "really forgotten men." The job is to make them aware that the world is not interested in them, no matter what they do. The men who have not been made to understand that, Johnston said, are likely to perform the most outrageous acts of violence, for no other reason than to attract notoriety.

Humiliate a man, punish him physically, degrade him, ridicule him, and he may be able to take it. But what he cannot stand is being forgotten—ignored. An exaggerated affection for attention played no small part in the lives of the men who wound up on "the island."

The Family Doctor

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Science Pushes Large-Scale Tests Wit Infantile Paralysis Serums

(This is the fourth of a series of six articles by Dr. Fishbein on infantile paralysis.)

Many physicians believe that in the pre-paralytic stage of infantile paralysis injections of the blood of a person who has recovered from the disease may be of value in preventing some of the paralysis. In certain communities stations have been set up where such convalescent serum is available. However, other physicians are not yet convinced of the value of this method of treatment.

Experiments are being conducted on a large scale in various portions of the United States, as well as in other parts of the world, which may determine just how much dependability may be placed on this method in protecting the child.

In view of the difficulty of treating patients with infantile paralysis in this stage of this disease, and in view of the fact that the method has not been shown to be in the slightest harmful to either a normal or a sick child, many physicians and health departments encourage the use of the convalescent serum in this stage of infection. After the paralytic has occurred, the injection of the convalescent serum cannot be depended on to do very much good.

Obviously, these examinations and these methods of treatment demand the immediate attendance of a competent doctor. In the larger cities, children with infantile paralysis are frequently taken directly to a hospital. In smaller communities the family doctor should be called at the earliest sign of fever, sore throat or infection, particularly during times of epidemic, so that everything possible can be done at the earliest moment.

As soon as paralysis begins, the method of treatment depends on determining which muscles have been involved and the extent of the involvement. The child with infantile paralysis will, of course, be put to bed. Rest aids recovery and prevents unnecessary irritation to the tissues.

Nursing must be exceedingly gentle. All unnecessary movements of the patient should be avoided. Specialists in orthopedic surgery are able to fix the limbs and tissues in a suitable position so that they will be helped toward recovery and so that they will be available for the best possible results in case paralysis occurs. From six to eight weeks may be necessary to permit the damaged nerve cells to recover as much as possible.

Even the weight of bedclothes may provide harmful pressure on the weakened tissues. Simply propping the patient up in bed may cause disturbance in the muscles of the back. A pillow placed under the patient's knees may put the legs into a position which may make walking most difficult and treatment more difficult after the acute stage of the disease has subsided.

Unfortunately, many parents submit children in this stage of the disease to rubbing and manipulation by all sorts

Play Teaches Girls to Be Homemakers

(No. 112)

Who is it that makes life comfortable? I mean by providing the things people love in the way of personal comfort, such as bright, clean houses, attractive food and maybe some flowers about the place, smooth beds, clothes in order, company, and nicely-set tables.

Women, of course. My job today is to remind everybody that men never have been homemakers and never will. It has to be done by somebody, and it looks as though the ladies will continue to be responsible.

"Well, then, I figure this way. That girls in every family, bar none, should reports of her students. "Hm!" grunted Dr. Sargent. "And so on—far into the night, I suppose. And this is the hard-boiled lady who sends her girls to bed at 10:30."

"I might say, 'And this is the head-surgeon who rides his subordinates for turning up red-eyed for want of sleep, and then piles a midnight charity operation on top of a full schedule.' . . . Well, how did it go, Stephen?"

Miss Armstrong had been supervisor of surgical nursing at Saint Vincent's when Stephen Sargent had been the rawest of young internes.

"Raptured before I could get to it," he said, sliding down in his chair and thrusting his hands into his pockets, his long legs stretched out before him. "The poor devil had a wife and three children, and couldn't make up his mind to take a chance till, this evening, the thing hit him like a bomb shell."

He took a silver case from his pocket, extracted a cigarette, and lighted it. "You really do smoke too much, Stephen," Miss Armstrong said as if from force of habit, but her mouth was obviously not on her words.

"Just what I was telling young Benchley about himself not two hours ago," he agreed with a wry grin.

"Young Benchley," the white-haired woman echoed musingly. "And not so many years ago you were 'young Sargent.' . . . How old are you, Stephen? Thirty-six, isn't it? . . . Pretty young for a man to have taken the hurdles you have."

"Tell young Benchley that," he grinned. "He thinks I have one foot in the grave already. And do you know, Armstrong, I'm not so sure he isn't right. I've reached the stage where all this flaming youth underfoot around here gets me down sometimes. . . . But what I came about is one of your probations."

"Ah?" said Miss Armstrong, and glanced with a sigh at the pile of reports under her folded hands.

"By a strange coincidence," Dr. Sargent went on, "daring at the ceiling, and luxuriatingly wreathing his head in smoke, 'It's the one who was up in court—' together with young Benchley—a month or so ago—the one with the eyes like saucers and the tongue-in-the-cheek look who goes around deviling everyone with questions. . . . What is it they call "Utility" and "Agility." . . . Later, I believe, it's been 'the Elephant's Child' because, as you suggest, he goes around asking questions. . . . I suppose she's been asking you some?"

"Naturally," he agreed. "She has the quickest eye, the coolest intelligence, the deftest hands of all the nurses I have ever worked with. She'd have made a damned good surgeon if you ask me. But do you know, Armstrong, I've sometimes wondered, if I were down and out and hurting like the devil and scared within an inch of my life—the way we get them every day—whether a quick eye, a cool intelligence, and deft hands would be all I'd need. Katherine Miller might be perfect for the perfect nurse. I mean, of course—if she'd put on more ingredient into her work."

He broke off abruptly. "Well, I'm still listening," Miss Armstrong prompted.

"Herself," he finished. "She thought, perhaps she would if you were the patient, Stephen, my lad. Aloud, she said, 'After all, it was poor little Utility we were talking about, wasn't it? . . . Whose chief fault seems to be that she puts a devastating amount of herself into everything she does. . . . Well, I believe you had a complaint?'"

"I didn't know I'd said anything about a complaint. But," Dr. Sargent added slowly, "I have had something forced upon my attention which I think might interest you."

"This sun's more'n I can stand." "Bear up—the first tan days are the hottest."

Paul Harrison in Hollywood

Olds and Ends and Odd Addenda Concerning Seven Cinemembers

HOLLYWOOD.—Closeups: JOYCE MATTHEWS, tuffy-haired, blue-eyed and lissome, had been in pictures two years, doing bit parts and odd jobs of hooding. Once, at Metro, she was pictured as "the most beautiful chorus girl in Hollywood." Nobody paid her much attention, though, professionally or socially, until Paramount press agents recently let it be known that she is the daughter of James P. Matthews, retired multi-millionaire broker.

Right away her telephone began ringing. Paramount agents wanted to help guide her career. Bachelor stars and leading men wanted her to go golfing, yachting, dancing. Miss Matthews, meditating on the snobbery that acknowledges a girl to be a better actress and a more attractive dinner companion if her papa has money, said no, thanks.

Pecadilly Punter Binnie Barnes, playing the role of a ranch woman in "Three Blind Mice," had her first taste of ranch life when the company worked on location.

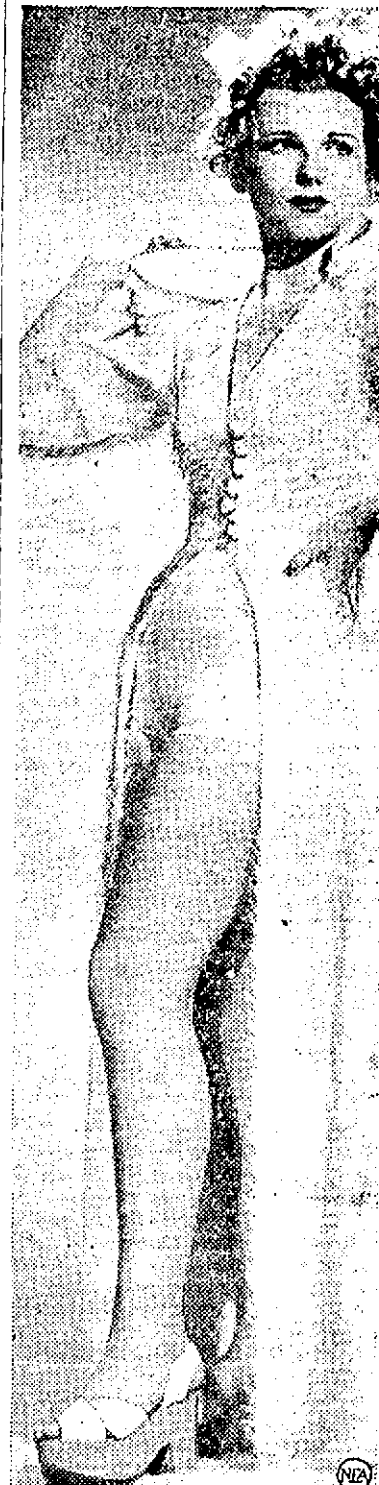

Ten years ago, though, she worked in London cabarets as "Texas Binnie," posing as an American cowgirl, doing rope tricks which an actor had taught her, and telling home-on-the-range stories. Actually, she had been born right there in London.

Stand-In's Ex-Fill-In Sam Pokrass is a musician with an accent. Of course he didn't have to speak intelligibly to compose good music, such as the entire score of "Cyrano de Bergerac," but his accent was so heavy that it kept him from getting jobs. So Pokrass went into vaudeville. His job in the troupe was filling in with music while Sam Cantor, the headliner, was making costume changes.

Once, in St. Louis, the company worked right across the street from the theater where "Cyrano" was playing to the huzzas of the critics. . . . Today Pokrass is one of the top composers at 20th-Fox. And Sam Cantor is employed on the same lot—as a stand-in for Jimmy Ritz.

Born to the Celluloid Paul MacWilliams, Jr., is 18 years old, and has done nothing in the movie business besides standing in occasionally for Dick Powell. He knows a great deal about movies, though, because all of his life has been spent on studio lots.

The senior MacWilliams has been a studio physician for 20 years, living first on the old Brunton lot and then moving to Warner Brothers. The boy used to be a great favorite and protégé of Douglas Fairbanks, who was sure he'd stir out to be a great actor.

Them Furriers George Fitzmaurice is Irish, but he mixes French and British accents while speaking English, and dilutes his French with an English accent. Reason is that he was reared in France until he was 17, then went to India to work. . . . Harold Huber gets a lot of foreign-language fan mail, and even in Hollywood he has been variously thought to be a Frenchman, Italian or Spaniard. Actually he's straight American on both sides of his family, from revolutionary times.

Two Men Crash Through Warner Baxter is less superstitious than most actors, yet he's convinced that he owes his career to a rabbit's foot. He does, too, except that it was an entire rabbit.

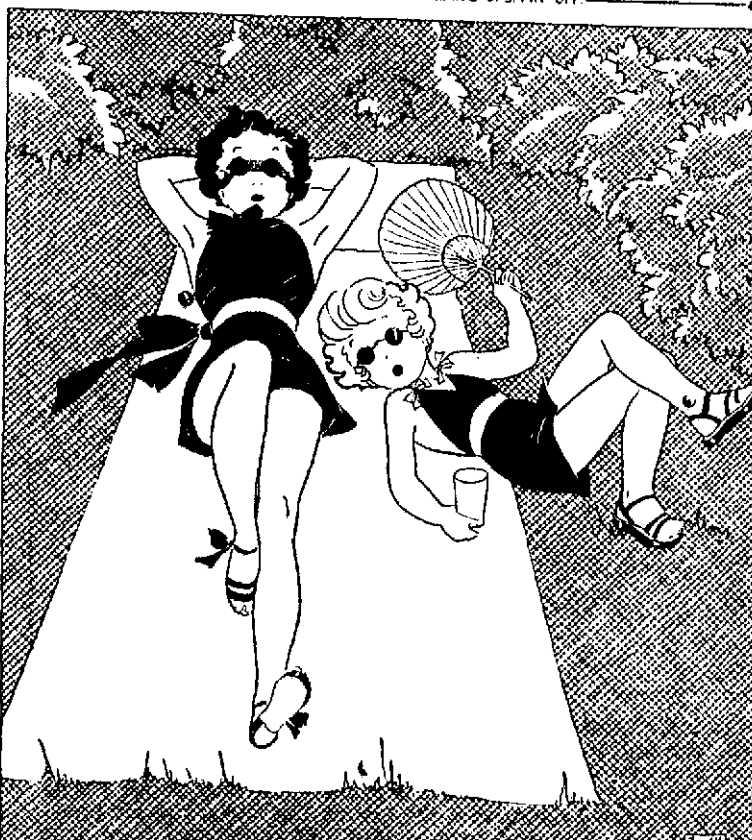

The animal leaped in front of a speeding car driven by Raoul Walsh. The windshield was shattered and Walsh, then an actor nearing prominence, lost an eye. Baxter was hustled into the picture, where to quick stardom. . . . Walsh, in turn, became a director—and such a prosperous one that his race horses now are trained by his brother, George, who used to be a movie headliner.

Here's a charming bolero frock that you can wear to work, then out to an important lunch date. Or on your vacation trips whether by plane, train or car.

Tailored though it is, the scalloped trimming makes this design, Pattern 8284, festive enough for anything—up to a clock, of course.

It will be pretty in a host of different materials—linen, tipu, sharkskin or flax. Or in a color of your choice. And since all reliable forecasts predict fall smartness for this type of brief, youthful bolero, plan to repeat it in thin wool or light-weight flannel. Thanks to the detailed sew cast included in your pattern, it's extremely easy to tailor.

Pattern 8284 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14 requires 4 1/2 yards of 35 inch material for the dress; 1 1/2 yards for the bolero; 5 1/2 yards of bias fabric for trimming.

The new Spring and Summer Pattern Book, 32 pages of attractive designs for every size and every occasion, is now ready. Photographs show dresses made from these patterns being worn; a feature you will enjoy. Let the charming designs in this new book help you in your sewing. One pattern and the new Spring and Summer Pattern Book—25 cents.

For a pattern of this attractive model send 15 cents in coin, your Name, Address, Style Number and Size to Hope Star Today's Pattern Bureau, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

"I don't think the trip has changed sentiment any."

Referring to the Oklahoma Democratic primary Tuesday in which Senator Elmer Thomas beat a field of three, McCarran said he believed Thomas would have been renominated even if Mr. Roosevelt had not spoken favorably of him while in Oklahoma.

Fighting out that Mr. Roosevelt had given Senator Alben W. Barkley, the majority leader, a strong endorsement for renomination in the latter's Kentucky primary fight, McCarran expressed the view this would not upset normal Kentucky political trends.

McCarran, in expressing the opinion that his opposition to some administration measures had not hurt his campaign, said there was still substantial opposition in Nevada to both court and government reorganization proposals.

Arbitration Board Set Up by Sweden

Commission Would Work to Discourage Strikes, Lockouts

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Eng. — (AP) — President Roosevelt's commission, when it comes to Sweden to study that country's labor laws, will find that Swedish workers have the inviolate right to associate in trades unions.

This country's labor achievement came as recently as September 11, 1936, when a formal act was passed by the Riksdag. The law does not lay down any exact definition of the term "right of negotiation." Nor does it state what is to be considered as a violation of that right. But it does say that any person violating it is liable to pay compensation for damages caused thereby.

By "right of negotiation" is meant the right to demand the opening of negotiations for settling terms of employment. Such right is exercisable by any union of workers, employer, or association of employers. In the event of negotiations being arranged by a State Conciliator, any party which fails to negotiate, may be reported to the Labor Court. This court has the power to order the delinquent party to negotiate. Delay then makes penalty liable.

One of the departments of the Ministry of the Interior is a Social Board which is a central authority for dealing with certain social legislation and its enforcement. In practice a trade union may, by giving notice to the Social Board, make a declaration to the effect that it undertakes to keep labor peace for a given period—at least two years. When such notice is given, the employer must likewise agree.

If the parties thus bound fail to reach an agreement on any question under negotiation, the Social Board, at the request of the trades union, will name an impartial chairman to conduct negotiations. If there is still no agreement, the chairman may counsel the parties to submit to the binding decision of arbitrators. If this is not decided, the chairman, at the request of either party, may then back the Social Board to name a board of arbitration to draw recommendations for settlement of the points at issue.

If there is still no agreement, then the undertaking to keep labor peace lapses, and either party may so notify the Social Board and resort to direct action. Even then the Social Board may name an impartial chairman to follow the course of events and invite the parties to renew negotiations if he sees any hope for success.

Another feature of Swedish labor legislation is the system of conciliation of the Social Board just outlined. When a labor dispute is about to arise, it is the job of the Conciliator to try to induce the parties to settle matters without recourse to strikes or lockouts. But the conciliator has no power to prohibit such direct action.

Before stopping work, the men in dispute must give notice to the employer and also to the State Conciliator. Violation of this is punishable by a fine. The same procedure is in vogue if an employer proposes to lock out his men.

The Labor Court, which handles most of the litigation arising out of the labor laws, is composed of a president and six members, named by the Crown. The president and two members are selected from persons who cannot be deemed to represent either employers or employees. The president and one of these members, made vice president, must be versed in law and judicial procedure. The other three must have special knowledge of industrial relations. Of the remaining members, two are named upon the recommendation of the Swedish Employers' Federation and two upon the recommendation of the Swedish Confederation of Trades Unions. The court must act promptly, deciding each case before it in one day if possible. There is no appeal from its decisions.

In general, public sentiment as well as certain laws, favors collective agreements between employers and employees. A special law stipulates that, when such collective agreements are made, neither side may violate them in case of dispute about their terms by taking direct action.

In 1935, the last year for which statistics are available, there were in

MIND Your MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it good business manners to have an office (into which outsiders come) reeking with smoke? 2. Should you press a cigarette stub against a lamp base or any ornament near at hand?
3. Should you talk with a cigarette in your mouth?
4. Is it necessary for an employer to rise and place a chair for a woman employee whenever she enters his office?
5. Should a young woman who answers an office telephone refer to herself as "Barbara Wayne" or "Miss Wayne"?

What would you do if—
You are smoking at table in a friend's house and there is no ash tray for you?
(a) Use your plate or saucer for the ash?
(b) Get up and look for an ash tray?
(c) Ask your hostess for an ash tray?

Answers
1. No.
2. No.
3. No.
4. No.
5. The latter.
Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(c) or, if the occasion were very informal and you knew your hostess well, (b) would do.

Barbara and Her Men Folks

Leading male characters in the unhappy married life drama of the former Barbara Hutton are her husband, her father and her son. It is the husband, Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, lower left, who now comes to the center of the stage as he prepares to take the witness stand at Bow Street Court in London to answer his wife's charges that he threatened her and their 2-year-old son since the start of the divorce wrangling. Barbara's father, Franklyn Laws Hutton, lower right, the Woolworth 5-and-10 magnate, has played a minor role in the present difficulty. When Barbara married the first time, to the late Prince Alexis Mdivani, Hutton said: "Well, one can't choose one's relatives."

force 6720 collective agreements affecting 27,188 employers and 719,423 employees.

Even with all this machinery Sweden is not free from direct action by employers and employees. Most of the trouble has arisen over wages disputes. The average per year has been as follows: 193 strikes affecting 28,485 persons and losing 1,473,900 working days; 6 lockouts, affecting 14,454 persons and losing 388,000 working days; 11 mild disputes, involving 7,001 persons and losing 493,700 working days.

The Swedish Labor Party has for many years been the biggest in the state. The Labor government has broadened the old age pension law, and in 1934 secured the passage of an up-to-date unemployment insurance act.

Unlike the A. P. of L. and more like John Lewis' famous C. I. O., the tendency in later years in Sweden has been for all workers engaged in a particular industry to amalgamate into one big union.

At present there are 42 national unions belonging to the Confederation with an enrolled strength of more than 700,000 members.

Football Players Lowest in Classes, Survey Discloses

DALLAS, Tex.—(AP)—John S. Windell, who examined the scholastic records of 1,287 athletes, reports that football players are the poorest students.

Windell studied the records of athletes of seven southwestern schools for information to incorporate in a thesis at Southern Methodist university.

He divided the athletes into those who took part only in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis or golf and those who lettered in two, three, four or five sports.

For single sports, the tennis players had the highest average grades. The order for remaining sports was track, golf, baseball, basketball and football.

Windell decided that students participating in sports requiring individual effort outrank those who compete in sports involving team play.

The one man of the 1,287 who made letters in five sports made the highest grades of them all; but Windell did not consider this conclusive evidence that five-sport men are the best athletes.

Some girls can get as happy as a lark on a few swallows.

Lonesome for a Cool Summer Dessert? Invite Brown Sugar Drops to Drop in

A good cookie always gets around. Bertha M. Burdick, who lives on Big Moose Lake in New York, makes a delight of a brown sugar drop cookie. She gave me the recipe recently. You will like it, too.

Bertha Burdick's Brown Sugar Cookies

One and one-half cups brown sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, pinch salt, 3/4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 cup top milk, 1 cup chopped raisins. Cream sugar and butter. If sugar is lumpy, roll it first. Add eggs to sugar and butter and beat well. Add vanilla and salt, then alternately with milk add flour, baking powder and soda sifted together, and raisins. Stir batter well. Drop by spoonfuls on greased cookie pan. Flatten out thin and sprinkle with chopped nut meats. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 12 minutes.

A California friend who summers on Lake Tahoe argues that her mountain cookies are even better than Mrs. Burdick's specialties. You be the judge.

Lake Tahoe Cookies

Two cups seedless raisins, 1 cup butter, 2 cups granulated sugar, 1/2 cup peanut butter, 3 eggs, 1/2 cup milk, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 2 teaspoons vanilla extract, 3/4 cups quick cooking oats.

Four boiling water over raisins and let stand 5 minutes. Drain and dry on towel. Cream butter, add sugar and cream thoroughly. Add peanut butter and beat. Add beaten eggs and mix. Add milk, and flour sifted with salt, soda and spices, and beat. Add flavoring, oats and raisins, and stir to blend. Drop by small spoonfuls, about 2 inches apart, on ungreased cookie sheet, but do not flatten. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 18 minutes.

A stone crock full of drop cookies, a full pitcher of cold milk and an orchard to sit in—that's a pleasant summer thought.

Secoo Soft Gingerbread

1 cup Secoo
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon ginger
1 cup raisins
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon soda
3 eggs
1 cup buttermilk.
Cream Secoo and sugar together, add ginger, cinnamon, salt, eggs and molasses. Sift 3/4 cups flour and one teaspoon soda and add alternately with buttermilk to first mixture. Add raisins which have been well floured with 1/4 cup flour. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.).

Secoo Drop Cookies

8 tablespoonsful Secoo
1/2 cupful sugar
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoonsful milk
1 1/2 cupsful flour
2 teaspoonsful baking powder
1/4 teaspoonful salt
1 teaspoonful flavoring
Cream the Secoo and sugar. Add egg, milk and flavoring and beat well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt, and add to first mixture. Beat well, drop by teaspoonfuls on a shallow baking pan, making the cookies two inches apart, and bake them for ten minutes in a hot oven (375 degrees F.).

Secoo Cup Cakes

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup Secoo
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla.
Cream sugar into Secoo thoroughly, adding sugar gradually. Add the egg yolks, one at a time and beat well. Sift the dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk, to first mixture. Beat the egg whites until stiff and fold in. Turn into well-oiled cup cake or fancy pans and bake in a moderate oven (350-375 degrees F.). This will make about a dozen and 1/2 cakes. If you wish more, double the measure.

Miss Johnnie June Cone of Snyder is visiting Mrs. W. H. Etter several days this week.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church met Monday afternoon at the church for the monthly circle program and round table discussion. Mrs. Evelyn Hubbard led the program. She opened the meeting by reading as a devotional the second Psalm. Mrs. J. A. Wilson led in prayer.

The round table discussion was based on the article "Seeing America Through the Eyes of a Missionary" from the July Survey. The leader asked questions which were answered by five members present. During the business session which followed the minutes of the last meeting were heard and the roll called. It was reported that $10.90 was realized from the ice cream supper Friday night.

The next meeting will be the Bible study based on Old Testament reading to be held next Monday at the church. The meeting closed with the benediction.

The Home Demonstration club met Friday evening, July 8 in home of Mrs. Lannie Beck with six members present. Opening song was "America." The devotional was read from the 5th chapter of Luke and concluded with prayer. The club creed was repeated in concert. The president, Mrs. Beck, had charge of the meeting and after to reading of minutes and roll call by the secretary, reports were turned over to various leaders. Due to the absence of Miss Bullington, no demonstration was given. Mrs. Elmore gave a report of the county council meeting she attended Thursday of last week at Centerville church. During the social hour and recreational period the hostess conducted a guessing contest of correct names of many potted plants and bouquets of lovely flowers in vases placed around the living and dining room which formed a lovely scene for the meeting. Mrs. Lat Moses won first place and Mrs. Paul Dudeney and Mrs. Elmore tied for second. A potted plant was the prize. Refreshing ice tea and sandwiches served by the hostess were enjoyed by all present. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Lat Moses on August 12.

BEFOREHAND PREPARATIONS FOR BUSY HOMEMAKERS

THE woman who is homemaker and wage-earner, too, will find her menu problems simplified if she does her planning, marketing and preparation on days which are free from office responsibilities.

LOOKING AHEAD

Buying in quantity at weekend prices saves time as well as money and it's no trick at all to store the extra vegetables and fruits if you have a modern air conditioned ice refrigerator to keep them crisp and fresh and succulent until it's their turn to appear on the menu. A constant circulation of cold, properly moist air in these roomy refrigerators keeps foods from drying out; and because the air is clean-washed and odor-free, you can keep the cantaloup right next to the dairy products, without exchange of flavors!

COOKING AHEAD

Keep on hand a generous supply of clean, crisp salad greens, so you can mix a supper salad on a moment's notice; cook vegetables in double quantities, to store in your ice refrigerator for use later in the week; keep biscuit mix and pastry ready for an emergency meal and jars of white sauce or pudding sauce on hand for easy use.

Cook potatoes in double batches, too; leftover boiled potatoes to be used as gratin or creamed, mashed potatoes for a fluffy, light soufflé. With a good sized meat loaf to be sliced and served cold, and plenty of fresh fruit in your ice refrigerator for a delicious and easy dessert, you can serve attractive and wholesome meals with little effort during the week.

When a pint or two of baked beans or chili remains from a meal it is a simple matter to put the food in a fruit jar and process it in the pressure cooker for about an hour. Escalloped corn, stuffed green peppers, and chicken and noodles are other dishes which may also be pressure-canned and held over on the emergency shelf.

Why wait for sheets to tear before splitting them down the center and sewing the selvages together? If you "date" your sheets, give them —say 3 years wear, and then renovate them while the inner section is still fairly good you will find that they will last much longer.

In winter or summer when one wants ventilation in a room there is always the problem of keeping the curtains from blowing and becoming wrinkled or soiled. Here's a trick that really works! Hook a coat hanger over the curtain rod, then slip the curtain through the hanger. This makes a fold which lifts the curtain out of the line of draft.

When making a layer cake with a jelly or soft cream filling between the layers it is sometimes hard to keep the layers from getting soggy from the filling. This difficulty may be overcome if you first spread a bit of thin confectioners' icing over the bottom of the top layer and over the top of the bottom layer. Then allow the icing to harden before spreading on the soft filling.

Every homemaker is interested in the type of left-over dishes that can be served to company—even when not in a "pinch." Here is one of those very dishes which tops it made from savory, freshly-kept meat or fowl—as it will be if stored in the proper, properly-moist atmosphere of the modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator.

Put left-over meat or fowl through the food chopper twice. Add sufficient gravy (also left-over) to form a paste. Then spread this on a sheet of biscuit dough, rolled about 1/4 inch thick. Roll up like a jelly roll to about one inch in diameter, then cut in 8-inch pieces. Place, round side up, in greased baking pan and bake in a hot oven (450°) for approximately 15 minutes.

GREATER SAVINGS

July Desserts Should Brim With Juicy Summer Fruits

The blush of July peaches can be saved for winter breakfasts. Now is the time for making jams and conserves.

As soft as a peach and as winning as a raspberry—that's what a July dessert should be.

Peach and Raspberry Bowl

(Serves 4 to 6)

One pint perfect raspberries, 6 blushing peaches, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cup (3/4 lb.) sugar, 1 bottle fruit pectin.

Carefully pick over the raspberries and wash gently. Chill. Plunge the peaches into boiling water, remove instantly and then peel. Cut into thin slices. Cover with sugar. Chill quickly in freezing tray.

Just before serving combine raspberries and peach slices in a crystal bowl. Pour maraschino or grenadine over the fruit.

Peaches ripening in the orchard turn to thoughts in jars of jam. Peach marmalade is a timely thought. The following recipes are for bungalow and apartment dwellers. Even so, they bring in pretty good results.

Spiced Peach Jam

(About 10 glasses—6 oz. each)

Three and one-half cups (1 1/2 lbs.) prepared peaches, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cups (3/4 lb.) sugar, 1 bottle fruit

pectin.

Peel fully-ripe peaches. (About 2 1/2 pounds will make 3 1/2 cups.) Pit and grind or chop very fine. Add 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves and allspice or any desired combination of spices, to ground or chopped peaches. Squeeze juice from 2 medium lemons.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Add lemon juice, mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling.

Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam once.

Ripe Peach Marmalade

(About 11 glasses—6 oz. each)

Four cups (2 pounds) prepared fruit, 1/2 cups (3/4 lb.) sugar, 1 bottle fruit

pectin.

Peel off yellow rind of 1 orange and lemon with sharp knife, leaving as much of white part on the fruit as possible. Put yellow rinds through food chopper twice. Add 1/4 cup water and 1/2 teaspoon soda, bring to a boil and simmer covered for 10 minutes.

Cut off tight skin of peeled fruit and tip pulp out of each section. Add pulp and juice of an additional lemon to rind and simmer covered for 20 minutes longer. Peel for 20 minutes longer. Peel about 1 1/2 pounds fully ripe peaches. Pit and chop or grind very fine. Combine fruits.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit into large kettle, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil gently 5 minutes.

Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit.

When you kiss me like that I'm in Seventh Heaven.

Why seventh?

Because I have six other boy friends.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Tracing 300 Years In Delaware

THUNDERING Henry Hudson, exploring the Atlantic coast, first sailed into Delaware Bay for the Dutch in 1609. The next year Lord De la Warr is said to have entered the bay for England, hence the name Delaware, which the country eventually took.
Further exploration, however, stirred the Dutch, and about the time that the Puritans were establishing themselves in New England the first settlement on Delaware soil was made by them in 1631 near the present site of Lewes, "for the cultivation of grain and tobacco as well as to carry on the whale fishery in that region." The settlement, however, was soon completely destroyed by the Indians.
Undaunted, new colonists under the South company of Sweden planned settlement in 1634. But in 1638, Peter Minuit planted the first real Swedish community in the New World at what is now Wilmington, naming it "Christinaham," in honor of the child queen, Christina. He named the entire territory "New Sweden," although it was actually settled jointly by Swedes and Finns. New Sweden was to last until 1655, when peggled Peter Stuyvesant with seven vessels and as many hundred men conquered it and annexed it to New Netherland.
Landing of the Swedes and Finns in 1638 is depicted on the special U. S. Commemorative stamp above, enlarged. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

Gassion, who husband operates the wireless station on the tower, has made it her part-time duty to sew up the flags torn by the winds.
Usually the winds get five or six flags despite her efforts. The French government recently recognized her position as official Eiffel tower flag repairer by awarding her a small annual salary.

South's Economic Director Named

The National Emergency Council Is Headed by Lowell Mellett

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON—The executive spotlight which switches from time to time on new agencies, has picked out Lowell Mellett and his National Emergency Council for a period of prominence that shows signs of being far more than temporary.

Mellett was an editor of a Washington newspaper. He had New Deal ideas before 1933 and long has been one of the president's intimates. Now as N.E.C. director, he has been incorporated officially into the White House executive ring to take over a job second in importance only to emergency relief. The job is to manage the president's effort to rescue the South from the economic doldrums.

The Emergency Council, hiding in the obscurity of a thousand half-forgotten bureaus, has been marked for death time after time. Best opinion here is that it was rescued lately mainly as an avenue down which the President could launch his southern enterprise.

Many Are Called
It is a familiar trick of the President's to use first one agency and then another with the scintillating performance of a swingman trap drummer. He financed banks through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; took jobless boys off the streets with CCC, and corralled the unemployed with a half dozen relief agencies. And now, N. E. C. is brought around for the invasion of the South. Its membership once included the entire cabinet, together with the heads of each of the new agencies created under the present administration.

Co-ordination of policy and elimination of overlapping were its main purposes and undoubtedly Mellett will continue in that capacity. In addition, it has a whiplash "advisory" power to eliminate duplication of effort among governmental agencies, although since 1933 it has been more in the doldrums.

Sleepness Nights-Bladder Weakness

When you have to get up two or three times during the night it's often a sign of bladder trouble.

You may or may not have symptoms such as a steadily dull aching back, moist palms, scanty high colored irritating urine. At any rate, Ramon's Brownie Pills for the kidneys are guaranteed to give you satisfaction or money back.

You'll feel better after taking Ramon's—more energy—and whole nights of sound sleep. It isn't expensive 35 cents.

than the South it is expected now to stimulate.

Current Washington opinion is that Mellett, soft-spoken and serious-minded, has been singled out to stage one of the big governmental spectacles of 1938, the investigation of what the President calls "the nation's Number 1 economic problem," the South.

Already the suggestion of tampering with established conditions in the South has stirred suspicions of politicians doubtful of the President's purposes. Moreover, northern industry has already looked suspiciously upon any effort to juggle freight rates, wage and hour problems and other industrial factors with a view to mechanizing the South.

Operator, the White House
The job under a General Hugh Johnson might be blown up to amazing proportions. Mellett is no General Johnson such as NRA knew and his attack on the new phase of his job was unopposed. He called a conference of southern industrial, labor and economic leaders, as requested by the President. But he read them no orders.

Instead, he asked their opinions on Dixie's troubles with regard to freight rates, cotton surpluses, population pressures, poorly financed industry and racial conflicts. He promised no immediate solutions, but the President has never been satisfied with a mere report—without recommendations.

Mellett works in his shirt sleeves because it is hot, has four fleecies on his desk—one straight to the White House. He is gray-headed, brown-eyed, slender and active, but unobtrusive in the manner of a General Johnson or a Harry Hopkins.

But his associates predict his show will be no less dramatic for that, involving as it does federal intervention in a territory belligerently independent and states rights.

Denounces Lending of Magazines to Doctors

WHITLEY BAY, Eng.—(AP)—C. A. Brown touched on a sore spot in his presidential address to a recent conference of the National Federation of Retail Newsagents, Booksellers and Stationers. He declared:

"The hiring out (renting) of magazines and periodicals to doctors and dentists who, above anyone else, could afford to pay full price for them, will be attacked until this pernicious and unhealthy practice is stopped."

Farmers Gather Deserted Pheasant Eggs

BOULDER, Colo.—(AP)—Boulder county farmers are trying to increase the supply of pheasants with the hope that soon there may be enough of the birds to justify an open season.

Eggs are gathered from abandoned pheasant nests in farm fields. These eggs are sent to a central hatchery and the hatched birds are released within the county. Farmers reported there has been a heavy loss of eggs because pheasant hens abandon their nests when frightened.

British Wage an Unending "Secret War" in Land of India

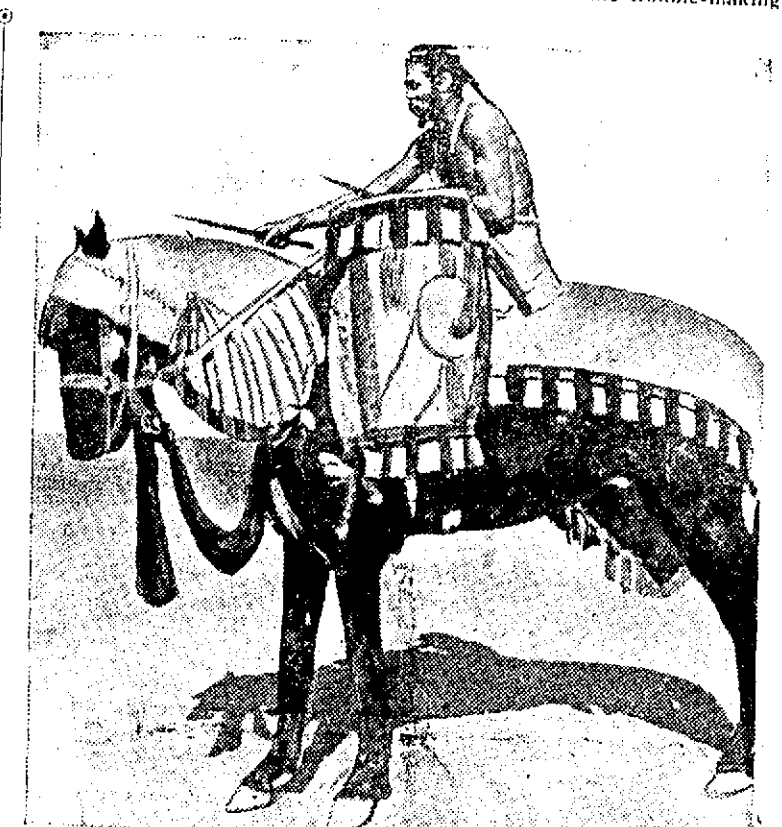

Stole natives (at right) impressively look on as battalions of the Royal Horse Artillery cross a stream, on India's northwest frontier, in the course of their grim, $5,000,000 game of hide-and-creek with the trouble-making Fakir of Ipi.

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON—(AP)—British statesmen and British newspapers are expressing indignation at the airplane bombing of women and children in Spanish government towns by Franco and at the spectacle of thousands of hapless victims of Japanese bombers in Chinese cities. British bombing planes are active in Waziristan, that troubled region between Afghanistan and the Northwest Frontier province of India.

It's just another of those paradoxes—and the basis of a charge made by the Nazis that the British really block-out disarmament, so far as bombers were concerned. It has often been asserted (also denied) that a former British cabinet minister, when in office, resisted disarmament as to bombers, because they were needed on India's frontiers.

Waziristan, where British bombers are at work on "police duty," is a war-like Moslem tribes of the Wazirs and the Mahsuds. Their country is a mass of hills and mountains, cut by deep gullies and ravines and with many long caves which serve as hiding places. As the land is bare and poor, the tribesmen live largely by contracted the disease, and 22 per cent of those noticeably sick died. Most of those losses were due to failure to treat promptly, according to W. R. Korchacher, animal husbandman, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

Sleeping sickness (technically known as "enkephalomyelitis") is known to be carried by mosquitoes and probably by biting flies, Dr. Korchacher said. Protection against mosquitoes and flies is therefore the first essential.

If the disease appears in an area, horses and stables should be kept in screened stables at night and when not at work from about July 1 until after frost. Fine mesh screens are not expensive, and can be tacked directly over windows without building frames for the screens; but screen doors will have to be built.

When at work, animals should be protected with muslin or burlap fly covers, extending all over from head to tail. The head and legs, and muslin covers should be sprayed about every 2 1/2 hours—just before going to work in the morning and at noon, and in the middle of the forenoon and afternoon.

An effective and rather inexpensive spray material may be prepared by extracting pyrethrum flowers in kerosene for 48 hours, using one pound of flowers to a gallon of kerosene. Two parts of this extract are then thoroughly mixed with one part of water containing 3 to 5 per cent of soft soap. Then place the mixture in a spray gun and take it to the field. It only takes a few minutes to spray the work animals before going to the field, and during the midforenoon and afternoon. Shake the spray thoroughly before putting in spray gun and again before spraying the animals. The spray is not only a valuable protection, but makes the animals more comfortable while at work. Better make one of this spray up at once, he advised, so it will be ready for use, if one does not wish to home-mix a spray excellent commercial sprays already mixed can be purchased.

Keep stables clean, and keep flies out by hailing manure away every fourth day (it takes only 3 days to hatch from eggs in manure and become winged flies). Feed good, bright green hay to offset lack of pasture. Dr. Korchacher said.

Watch animals closely and if any seem "off their feed" or dull, sleepy, or unsteady in gait, use a physician's thermometer and take temperature by way of rectum. If the horse seems ill, F. before going to work in morning or at noon, leave animal in stable and call a qualified graduate veterinarian at once, he said. Even where animals become sick, 95 per cent of those attacked can be saved if a veterinarian is called immediately.

Moldy or musty forage or grain, if fed to horses or mules, produces a disease very similar to encephalomyelitis. Keep such unfit feeds away

With the County Agent
Clifford L. Smith

Stock Disease
Sleeping sickness among horses and mules, which affect large numbers of stock in Arkansas last year, has already been reported this year from neighboring states, and it is therefore expected that Arkansas will suffer an outbreak not unlike that of last year.

Last year the disease developed in the north-central states and spread southward, 26 per cent of the horses

Pirates' Winning Streak Is Broken

Dodgers Explode 7-Run Barrage in Final Frame

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the "13 line" caught up with the Pirates in the ninth inning Wednesday (note the date) and the Bucs' 13-game winning streak longest in the majors this season, came to an end.

The Dodgers exploded a seven-run barrage in the final frame to whip the Pirates 10 to 5 and snap the run. Despite the setback, however, the Bucs' slim percentage hold since the second-place Giants also were defeated.

Blanked for six innings by young Russ Bauers, the Dodgers started to roll with a run in the seventh, tied the game at 3-3 in the eighth on Dolph Camilli's two-run homer, and then swayed up the decision at the expense of Big Mac Brown.

Brown, No. 1 relief pitcher in the majors this season, was charged with the loss, which snapped his personal winning streak at seven straight games.

Vitamin "A"
Citrus A is essential to maintenance, growth, reproduction, and lactation in animals. Pigs fed rations lacking in vitamin A are more subject to pneumonia.

Recent investigations have shown that vitamin A can be formed in the body of animals from a substance known as "carotene," which is supplied to them through green forage plants. Therefore, stock on green pastures are protected from lack of this vitamin. Green plants are also high in mineral content and when gathered through pasturing a relatively low harvesting charge per unit of feed used is obtained.

All of these basic facts argue for a system of livestock production that uses a maximum amount of land in grass for feed production, says, M. W. Muldrow, extension animal husbandman, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture. Such a plan of production, of course, is in line with conservation of the soil.

Experimental evidence shows, Mr. Muldrow said, that much of the carotene content of the green leaves, the source of vitamin A in plants is retained when the plants are made into silage.

Cleveland Drops to Second Place

Washington Scores Three Runs in Ninth to Defeat Indians

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senators scored three runs in the ninth inning Wednesday to defeat Cleveland and Bobby Feller, 4 to 3, dropping the Indians into second place half a game behind the Yankees.

It was Washington's sixth consecutive victory.

Bookie Taft Wright's pinch double scored the tying runs and Buddy Lewis singled him home with the game-winning run.

The veteran Harry Kelley outpitched Feller, allowing only four hits, but he gave up two runs in the ninth and the Senators had to come from behind to win. Feller yielded nine hits in suffering his fourth defeat against nine victories for the season.

With Cleveland leading 3 to 1 Buddy Myer walked to begin the Senators' half of the ninth and went to third on Ossie Bluege's double. Rick Ferrell was called out on strikes and Wright came in to pinch hit for Kelley. With two strikes against him, Wright hit for two bases to tie the score. George Case walked and Lewis, next up, whacked a single to center to score Wright.

It was his third defeat against 12 victories for the season. Tol Pressnell, third Dodger pitcher to see action was the winner.

Must Think Before Thinking Out Loud

TOKYO—(AP)—An example of Japan's fear of anti-war sentiment among her people appeared recently when the Supreme Court validated a four months' prison sentence meted out to a man who merely whispered his thoughts on the China conflict to a friend.

Japanese police charged that Suekichi Okada and an unnamed friend were engaged in a casual conversation aboard a Tokyo-bound train. When their voices dropped to mere whispers, the report read, a woman passenger near them became suspicious.

She proudly testified, in Okada's trial, that she eavesdropped and heard him voice anti-militaristic thoughts. The woman was highly praised for her patriotism.

An Indian nawab once boiled a pot of tea for the Viceroy of India using fuel consisting of rupee notes to the value of $1100.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! To Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up and you get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks puny.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name, 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

From the Cross Roads of Arkansas to the White House ...

"YOUR FRIEND and MINE"

THAT Senator Caraway's services on behalf of the people of Arkansas and the nation are greatly appreciated by folks in every walk of life has never been doubted.

She stands out as Arkansas' most valuable contact with the National Administration, upon which this state is dependent for cooperation in major legislation vitally affecting the welfare and pocket book of every man, woman and child.

SENIORITY IS A POWERFUL WEAPON
Seven years of service in the Senate has won her valuable Committee Assignments. She stands near the top of the Commerce Committee which handles flood control legislation, and has secured millions of dollars for Arkansas to aid in this work.

A FRIEND TO FARMERS
A member of the powerful Committee on Agriculture, she has stood up for farmers' rights. Every farmer participating in the government farm program or receiving subsidy checks knows her influence.

A FRIEND TO LABOR
Senator Caraway is regarded as one of the ablest champions ever to carry the banner of the laboring man. She has the endorsement of organized labor.

A FRIEND TO VETERANS
Practically every world war veteran and his family can testify to her intense interest in their welfare. She has the most complete file in Washington of ex-service men and their status with the federal government. Every veteran in the state feels free to call on her at any time.

A FRIEND TO YOUTH
Senator Caraway was one of the original supporters of the work of the National Youth Administration. Cash compensation and better preparation for a life of usefulness have benefited thousands of Arkansas boys and girls thru her efforts.

A FRIEND TO SCHOOLS
A homemaker and mother she is intimately acquainted with the needs of education. Her efforts have brought millions of dollars to carry on school work, provide improvements and raise our educational standards.

FRIEND OF STRUGGLING HUMANITY
Work relief legislation has provided jobs for thousands of our able-bodied citizens formerly faced by want and economic disaster. Food and meat, clothes to wear, shelter, fuel and a brighter prospect for tomorrow are represented in the checks turned loose twice each month to thousands of workers. Senator Caraway's demands have brought our State equal advantages with others in solving these problems.

A FRIEND TO THE AGED
Senator Caraway assisted in passing the original Old-Age pension legislation, has helped provide aid for crippled children and child welfare work. She is working to the end that the Federal Government will pay its full share of pensions to every State in the Union regardless of the amount contributed by individual States.

GOOD ROADS HELP TO MAKE A FRIENDLY STATE
Senator Caraway, in cooperation with other members of the Arkansas delegation in Congress, secured reenactment this year of the Robinson amendment introduced in 1936, providing for the expenditure of Federal highway funds in Arkansas for new construction, despite our inability to match this money with State dollars. Under this legislation Arkansas will receive over five million dollars to be expended for new construction and maintenance of our present highway system.

You can see her handiwork in the United States Senate reflected in every community in this State. Your appreciation and desire for continued benefits will be measured by your ballot on August 9th.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Montgomery to Fight at Rogers

Opponent Is Yet to Be Named for Night of July 28

ROGERS, Ark.—Lloyd Montgomery, Eauxite's "white hope" since turning out with a first-round knockout at Benton recently, will make his second professional appearance against an unnamed opponent at Rogers Athletic Field July 28, fighting under the auspices of the Rogers Floodlight Corporation.

"Monty" is well known in this section, having fought for Coach Jimmy Williams here last year while a student at the University of Arkansas. The main bout will go 10 rounds. In an eight-round semi-windup "Jovial Jimmie" Williams, Rogers' state featherweight champion, will meet an unnamed opponent.

Andrew Thomas, Springdale welterweight, who drew with Santos Ramirez in his first pro bout at Benton, also will appear on the 30-round card.

Jackie Reid Is New Manager Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Texas.—(AP)—Wec Jackie Reid, 45-year-old "softball" pitcher, Wednesday took over the management of the Fort Worth Cats of the Texas League.

He succeeded Homer Peel, whose future status as a player was complicated by efforts to keep him from returning against the Cats in an enemy uniform, and his own refusal to report to Toledo in a trade.

Peel's refusal to report to the American Association club in a dicker involving two players, precipitated his ousting as manager. The latest attempt to send him to Toledo, is was learned Wednesday, called for his contracted salary for the year with Fort Worth, plus $500 bonus.

"There is more involved than money," Peel said. "I want my release like I was promised."

Cecil Combs, business manager of the Cats, named Reid "temporary" manager Wednesday.

A number of other clubs were reported seeking a deal with Peel, among them Dallas, which was said to have offered to buy him outright, or deal direct if he obtains his release.

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service
NEW YORK.—It has been said of the New York Giants in the past that when everything else fails, they simply trend water . . . let the other contenders defeat themselves . . . back in to the National League pennant.

The Polo Grounders again may have to resort to their old formula in the stretch, but right now there is increasing evidence that they are highly capable of winning their third consecutive flag strictly on their own.

And what transpired in the All-Star game was something in the way of proof that they have more to beat than most people imagined.

A year ago at this stage the Giants were running second to Chicago. They now have a comfortable lead, with the Dizzy Deanless and hitless Clubs utterly unable to pull themselves together.

Cincinnati went into a six-game skid

2 Softball Games on Thursday Night

First Contest at Fair Park to Begin Promptly at 7:30 o'Clock

A softball team sponsored by Unique Cafe will meet the Alton CCC camp team at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at Fair park.

The Bruner-Ivory team will meet Hope Basket company team in a second contest. Admission will be 10 and 20 cents.

After wrangling for more than two hours with little accomplished, the meeting of softball managers held in the office of Earl W. Erion Wednesday night was adjourned.

A meeting at 4 o'clock this Thursday afternoon was being held at Hope city hall for only sponsors of teams, in an effort to form rules and elect three men vested with authority to operate the league in the second half.

The Unique Cafe-sponsored team meeting the Alton Camp Thursday night is as follows:
J. W. Harper, shortstop; Frank Barr, second base; Wallace Cook, shortfielder; Linholm, centerfield; Greenberg, third base; Riffe, first base; Caplinger, right field; G. V. Keith, left field; Joe Jones, catcher; Bill Robins, pitcher.
Utility players are: Phil Keith, Donald Moore, Carlton King and Henry Sommerville.

Simpson, Bohanan in Feature Event

Taylor to Make Amateur Debut in Ring Friday Night

Harold (Red) Simpson, local welterweight boxer, has been signed to meet Fred Bohanan, CCC camp fighter in the main event on Friday nights fight program.

Simpson and Bohanan met for the first time on last week's card and battled three rounds to a hard fought draw. This fight proved to be the best on last Friday's program and for that reason a return bout was arranged for this week.

The semi-final will feature the initial appearance of two amateur fighters. Roy Taylor, local softball star, will try his hand at boxing when he meets Lloyd Howell, 172 pound CCC scrapper. These fighters are amateurs and to retain their amateur standing must be billed as such. Both boys are lightweightweights.

The feature preliminary will be a return fight between D. K. Carson, 179 pound Hope negro, and Lee Roy Daniels, 194 pound Fulton fighter. This fight was scheduled for last week, but ear trouble prevented the Fulton negro from being here. The bout will be four rounds.

Another big battle royal will be offered on this card.

Two good preliminaries will complete the card.

Doors open at 8 p. m. fight starts promptly at 8:30 p. m.

just when they threatened to stir up plenty of trouble and make a miracle man of Bill McKeechie.

That leaves Pittsburgh the New Yorkers' biggest threat for the time being, and the Pirates long ago developed a reputation as a streaky outfit.

Best-Balanced Club
New York has the best-balanced club in the older wheel.

With Carl Hubbell once more in form and Slick Castleman's back alignment straightened out, the Giants' pitching is second to that of no outfit in baseball.

Hal Schumacher, who celebrated July 4 by bagging his 100th game, is as fast as ever. Tall Cliff Melton is dependable in his second year. Harry Gumbert has come on. Bill Lohrman is a starter now, and has been extremely useful as a relief worker. Dick Cofman is one of the top relief pitchers in the game, and huge Walter Brown is a capable filler-inner.

Coupled with superlative pitching is the Giants' happy habit of hitting home runs. Up to and including July 4, the men of Horace Stoneham manufactured 67 circuit clouds that were good for 124 runs.

Joe Moore is hitting .311, Harry Danning and Mel Ott .318 each, and Sambo Leslie, .310. These are the bulkier figures, but Bob Seeds, Jimmy Ripple, Hank Leiber, and Dick Bartell are equally as formidable in the clinches. Whatever else may be said of Bill Terry, he always manages to come up with a replacement when one is required.

Dodgers Kindly Ally
When it was found that Burgess Whitehead was lost for the season, and Lou Chiozza and Mickey Haslin failed at second base, Alex Kampouris came from the Reds for Wally Berger and cash.

Kampouris is hitting only .233, but with the Greek Ambassador, Bartell is able to turn out the double plays that are so necessary to the Giants' low ball pitching. The Polo Grounders still play 'em close to the vest.

Leiber found the range when Seeds was purchased from Newark, and the latter came in handy when Moore started to hobble in left field. He drove in 14 runs in 11 games.

Danning is one of the principal reasons why the Giants are out in front. He took kindly to batting second, and has caught nearly all of his club's games.

Although they were overpowered by the Yankees in the last two world series, the Giants are one of the better money clubs in recent years.

And this trip they have found a kindly ally in their old Brooklyn rivals, from whom they have taken 10 straight games.

If the Giants win again, they really ought to cut the Dodgers in on their world series swag.
